W. H. Hood, father of Mrs. C. H. Rich, died at the home of the latter early Saturday morning from Bright's disease. The remains were embalmed and shipped to Hazlehurst for burial.

Rev. F. H. Cumming delivered a very interesting and instructive discourse at Owen Hall Friday night, his subject being "The Signs of the Times." A well filled house greeted the speaker who is always an entertaining and forceful talker.

Mrs. J. L. Crosssett and children are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Hopper at Oakland. Chas. A. Stainback of Somerville spoke in the interest of the democratic ticket Thursday night in Owen Hall to a fair sized audience. The speaker delivered a splendid talk which was well received.

Don't save all your smiles and cheerfulness for company—be cheerful in your own home and to your own family. Don't be grumpy.

"Failure shouldn't be a brake;

Make it a spur.
Mend your pace and keep awake
When its stings occur,
Make it a call to fight,
Not a cry to quit.

When your plans aren't going right,
Rouse yourself a bit.

Failure's not a stopping place;

Its a starting line,
Just the first lap of a race
Do not pause to whine.
When its rowels come to you,
Take them like a man;
They are urging you to do
Something that you can.

If by failure you are spurred,
You can win again;
Many a time has this occurred
To your fellow men,
There are ways that you can take
When you're trouble tossed.
It's when failure is a brake
That a fellow's lost.

Not a few local voters went over to Somerville Saturday night to hear Capt. H. C. Moorman and C. A. Stainback, who spoke for the democratic candidates.

State's County Agents Hold Annual Meeting

Knoxville Tenn., Nov. 4, 1916—

Fifty farm demonstration agents from all parts of the state, meeting here in the library of the University of Tennessee, closed their annual session with a statement of plans for the coming year. More live stock suited to the conditions of the individual counties will be encouraged. Community meetings will be held to discuss affairs of the county and for the purpose of getting acquainted. Farmers will be assisted in their crop rotations in order that all counties in Tennessee may build up their soils.

Several counties have just employed agents, and these men have had the benefit of the discussions and reports at this annual meeting. Farm demonstrations are one part of the extension work in agriculture carried on by the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the College of Agriculture of the University of Tennessee, the State Board of Education and several other organizations. Once each year the entire field force meet at Knoxville to make their reports and to discuss plans for the future.

H. D. Tate, state leader of county agents, presided at the session and brought before the county agents, because of his thorough training and experience many valuable suggestions. Reports were made by the agents for their counties and by the district agents for their sections of Tennessee. H. S. Nichols is the district agent for west Tennessee, J. M. Dean for middle Tennessee and D. T. Hardin for east Tennessee.

West Tennessee has made much progress during the past year, according to the report made by Mr. Nichols. A larger acreage is under cultivation by demonstration methods now than ever before. Mr. Nichols reports 130,000 acres all told farmed by men who are using the best known methods of soil cultivation. One thousand one hundred and sixty have devoted some part of their farms to community demonstrations. West Tennessee has found that fall plowing, while difficult to put into practice, is beneficial, for on fields that have been fall plowed, the crops show up to much better advantage than on other fields. About 16,

500 acres in west Tennessee have been fall plowed. Purebred seed has been used in planting 3,557 cotton and corn fields. The section harrow has been used to a greater extent than ever before, and has been successful in keeping down weeds and grass. The section harrow covers much more land in accomplishing the same work than any other implement. Legumes have been planted by 388 men who have worked in cooperation with the county agents in demonstrating the value of such crops to the county. Crimson clover, one of these legumes, has been hard to get this year, but the farmers of west Tennessee are by no means discouraged since they realize the value of it to them.

Mr. Nichols pointed to the fact that, with the crimson clover seed selling at $9.00 a bushel, farmers must save their own seed. The past year, to the best of knowledge, over 1,000 bushels of crimson clover seed were saved for the farms on which they were produced. To assist the soil in producing legumes, west Tennessee has imported almost 3,000 tons of limestone into the counties having agents. For the immediate benefit of the whole family, an adequate garden has been made possible on many farms in order that the family may, from their own soil, feed themselves.

In speaking of the live stock development in west Tennessee, Mr. Nichols gave credit to the banks, railroads, business men, business men's clubs and educators for some assistance. One hundred and seven purebred bulls, 201 purebred heifers, 3,175 purebred hogs have been brought into counties during the past year. Eight live stock associations have been organized, the purpose of which is to increase the live stock possibilities of the counties concerned.

The improvement of gully lands, the terracing of hillside farms, the boys, corn clubs, and farm inspection trips were also treated in Mr. Nichols' report.

Tuesday's Election Yet in Doubt

As The Falcon goes to press Thursday morning the result of the presidential election held thruout the nation on last Tuesday is still in doubt. Wilson and Hughes are running a very close race with indications that the president will win his re-election if given a fair count of the votes cast for him in the close states of the west. The democrats will hold their control of both the United States senate and house of representatives as a result of the election, but the majority in the house is reduced from that of the past two years.

In Tennessee the entire democratic ticket was elected and the state replaced permanently in the democratic majority. The counties in which large cities are situated gave very much reduced majorities for Governor Rye but the country counties in Middle and west Tennessee piled up on their majorities of two years ago hundreds of voters who were a little afraid two years ago to put their confidence in the governor at that time. They have seen that he has kept the faith these two years and has come as near living up to the platform which he was elected as any governor the state has had and they have given him their votes and support. With a slightly reduced majority the democrats re-elected Enloe as railroad commissioner and a majority larger than that given the governor Hon. K. D. McKellar was elected United States senator. Fisher for congress came out so far ahead of his republican and negro opponents that he hardly realized there was an opposing candidate, the negro candidate getting more votes in the district than did the republican.

The result in Fayette county should be gratifying to its democratic people. The democratic majority as shown in another column is about 1700 while the entire vote was about 1900. The county will have twenty votes in the next state convention as a result of the larger vote cast here in this election.

The party has every reason to feel proud of the vote given its candidates in this county and thruout the state, and there seems little doubt at this time that a majority of the votes of the states were cast for the re-election of Wilson as president.

Milk In Winter

Why do your cows give less milk in winter than they do in summer? Just because nature does not supply them with grasses and green foods. But we have come to the assistance of Dame Nature with A. B. Thomas' Stock Remedy which contains the very ingredients that the green feed supplies in season, only, of course, in a more highly concentrated form. We guarantee that this remedy will make your cows give more milk, and better milk, with the same feed. W. S. Shinnault
